Deborah Stallings Honored for Business Excellence Columbia entrepreneur selected for prestigious Top MBE Award

Columbia, MD - September 22, 2006. The Governor's Office of Minority Affairs (OMA) and The Daily Record announced that Deborah Stallings, PHR, President and CEO of HR Anew in Columbia, has been selected for Maryland's 2006 Top 100 Minority Business Enterprise Award. This program salutes Maryland's exceptional minority and women business owners and highlights their achievements.

A panel of distinguished judges chose Deborah Stallings as an entrepreneur who has demonstrated outstanding achievement in four key areas: business development, client satisfaction, professional affiliations, and community outreach.

Sharon R. Pinder, Special Secretary, Governor's Office of Minority Affairs said, "The business owners selected for this award represent the best of the state's more than 200,000 women and minority owned businesses. Their contributions have had a major impact in maintaining Maryland's vibrant economy."

Deborah Stallings and the team at HR Anew are honored to receive this prestigious award, recognition, and endorsement from the Governor's Office of Minority Affairs and The Daily Record. Said Stallings, "We're grateful for the opportunity to serve employers in the world class State of Maryland. Thank you for recognizing the achievements of minorities and women business owners in our great state."
